Connecting creativity with commercial success

About Us

Founded in 2010, Ananda Media is a global distributor of action sports and adventure travel programming for TV and Digital Media. Our mission statement is to connect the most inspiring work of top independent Film-makers with commercial opportunities to be shown on TV Channels and Digital Platforms around the world.

We believe in conscious, respectful, healthy, sustainable, active lifestyles and pride ourselves on promoting aspirational content that vehicles these core values and inspires people to go out there and do something amazing!

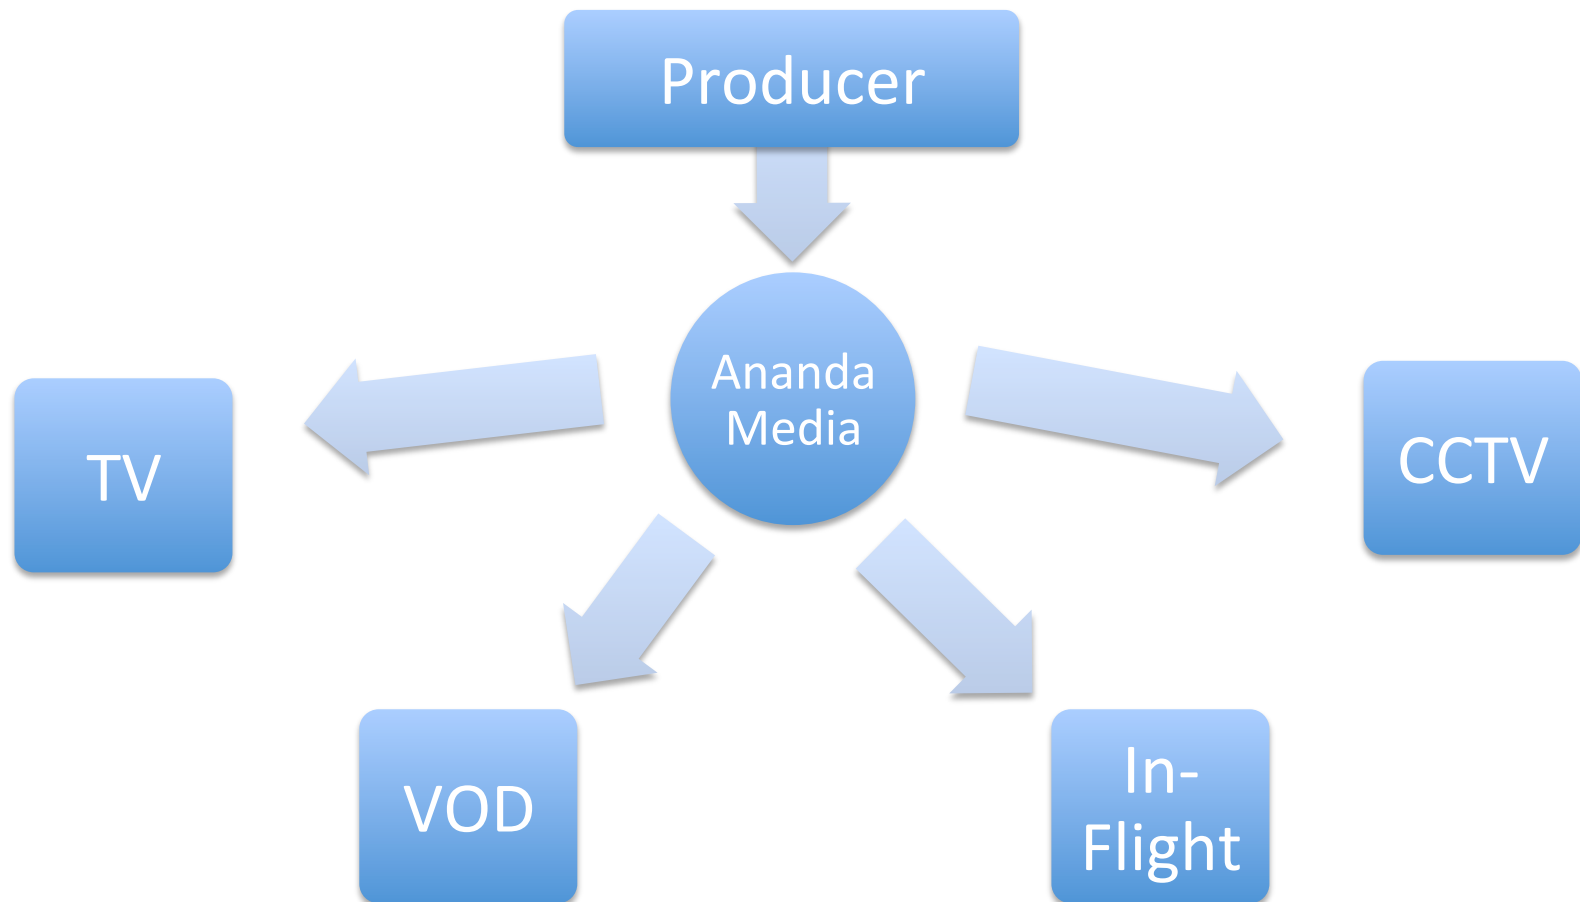

By specializing in this type of content, our company has built up a solid reputation within the TV and digital content industry as one of the top providers in these genres. Our attendance at all the major international TV industry tradeshow has allowed us to develop privileged relationships with buyers from all the major players in the market.

Our credo is to provide the tailored and flexible approach sometimes lacking from our more mainstream competitors. We work hard to offer the best possible level of service for rights holders in order to monetize their work and get it out to the audience it deserves.
